ARBUTUS

Trailing Arbutus or Mayflower

These are among our finest Native Flowers and because of their popularity are rapidly disappearing from our woodlands. It has always been considered "hard" to grow, but we have succeeded in producing them in quantity and now offer them nursery-grown in 2¼- and 2½-inch pots. Their culture is not difficult, provided they are given an acid soil in light shade and plenty of water until established. Cultural directions will be sent with all orders. Pot-grown plants, 60 cts. each, $6 per doz., $45 per 100.

DOGWOOD

This group fills a foremost place among spring-flowering trees. Cornus florida is a native of northern United States, and C. florida rubra was discovered near Philadelphia.
